(57) Abstract :
The present invention relates to Solar Portable Briefcase. Further invention relates to methods prepare storing solar energy in the form of solar portable Briefcase which stores solar energy in the form of battery and used further when needed. With the growing renewable sector, the demand for the energy storage system, to address the challenges related to intermittency in renewable power generation is expected to grow. So These Solar portable cylinders are comparatively of portable size and aims for operation of home appliances, Agricultural appliances, Industrial application, lightning of Street light.
